

This weekend, Bru de la Dueña, Noa Ferrer and Aura Serra attended the first Gathering of Balearic Children's and Youth Participatory Councils, together with Vanessa Parellada, youth affairs councillor, and Carlos Calzado, director of the Casal de Joves.

Councillor Parellada described the encounter at the Eivissa Palau de Congressos as "very enriching", saying, "It was the perfect place to share experiences and encourage young people to participate in decision-making on issues that affect them." Municipal department heads and politicians seized the opportunity to note proposals put forward by the youth. Among the principal concerns raised at the event were equality and youth mental health.
