

The Formentera Office of Social Welfare, with support from the Volunteer Platform of the Balearic Islands (Plataforma del Voluntariat, PVIB), has begun the process to draft and deploy a local plan to elevate, promote and support volunteering on Formentera. For this reason, current proposals envision a preliminary diagnosis intended to determine the reality of the island's network of associations, characteristics of local volunteers and the perspective of authorities in the public administration.

Data will be collected chiefly through anonymous questionnaires, which will be used to collect information that will be adapted to Formentera as much as possible and that addresses real needs on the island.

The surveys will be administered to volunteer workers and non-profit organisations until 3 April.
