

The president's office of the Formentera Council announced the addition today of four permanent officers to the island's local police force. Administration president Jaume Ferrer saluted the efforts of the new employees, who successfully submitted to a series of trials in the process. The expansion, a bid by Formentera Local Police to consolidate its ranks, puts the force's current number of officers at 13.