

This coming 28 February is the last day to apply for renewal of the stockbreeder card, a document that is obligatory for anyone intending to benefit from government assistance for livestock farmers. Applications can be completed at the agriculture and fishing office of the Formentera Council.

Residents should also be reminded that all individuals inscribed on the local register of stockbreeding facilities (Registre d'Explotacions ramaderes) and in possession of the stockbreeder card are required to update livestock census figures for their holding once a year.
